TCESDAT, JCHE 2, 1808.

Mr. Summer, from the Committee on Foreign Relations, asked to be discharged from the further consideration of the resolution giving the consent of Congress to the acceptance by Mr. Burlingsme of the mission tendered him by the Chinese Government.

Mr. Summer said Mr. Burlingsme had resigned the office which he head under the University of the Chinese Covernment.

Mr. Morton, trom the Committee on Military Affairs, reported, with amendment, the joint resolution to authorize the distribution of public documents to the National Soldiers' Asylum. The amendment was agreed to and the bill passed.

isn't subjected, with amendment, the joint resolution to authorize the distribution of public documents to the National Soldiers' Asylum. The smandment was agreed to and Mr. Patterson, of N. H., introduced a bill supplementary to the act incorporating the Newboys' Home. Also, bill to incorporate the America Fire Insurance Company of Washington both of which were referred to the Committee as the District of Columbia.

Mr. Sherman chiled up the bill supplementary to the set to provide a wattonal currently and the set of the set to provide a wattonal currently to the set to provide a wattonal currently in the banking system.

Mr. Uameron word to postpone the bill until to-morrow.

Mr. Chareron said the Senator (Mr. Cattell) lived in the entre, and was, of course, interested in the matter, but he (Mr. Cameron) lived in the country and did not care about it.

Mr. Sherman said there was no prospect of acting on this bill at all, without it was taken up at once. The whole system depends upon the prohibition of the payment of interest on interest of the city banks; it was for the protection of the country banks. If something was not done three was imminent danger that the whole system would perish.

Mr. Cameron wanted the whole question of finance and currency to go over until next year. The country was getting along very well oney our bonds were daily going up; there word amands for them, and what for the ter be will not be seted upon this session. He though to the seted upon this session. He though the second and the whole session the session. He though the second and the was the session. He though the second and the was the session the though t paying their liabilities.

Mr. O. then replied to the arguments of Mr. Sherman.

Mr. Corbett moved to make the bill the special order for to-morrow.

Mr. Trumbull hoped there would be no special order for to-morrow at the was every metal order for to-morrow.

Mr. Trumbull interpretation of the shern up. O. I. depend the Seaste would go on with these bills as raphilly as possible.

Mr. Corbett then withdraw his motion; and the motion of Mr. Cameron, to postpone the bill until to-morrow, was agreed to.

Mr. Trumbull introduced shill in addition to the sat of tible, to pussible services or the same of the same of the same spaint the United States. Befored to the last of tible, to pussible services of insolvent banks, which was laid on the table of morrow to have been supported.

Mr. Edwards called up the bill to provide for appeals to the Court of Claims.

Mr. Edwards called up the bill to provide for appeals to the Court of Claims.

Mr. Rakasiev said this was a very import.

for the appointment of two assistant attorney generals, and to abolish solicitors and deputy solicitors for the Court of Claims; which was agreed to.

Mr. Huckalew said this was a very important bill, and he should like to have some extant bill, and he should like to have some extant bill, and he should like to have some extant bill, and he should like to have some extant bill, and he should like to have some extant bill, and he should like to the leave used the court of the United States, and had, therefore, thought it proper to give him additional force and make him responsible for, the control of all these scattes. They were tailed in favored and make him responsible for, the control of all these scattes. They were tailed in favored and in the country would be befter subserved by chaolidating all the business which pertained thereto in the Attorney General's Department.

Mr. Budmus then moved that the aniary of Assistant Attorney General's Department.

Mr. Budmus then moved that the aniary of Assistant Attorney General control of the bill be omitted for the present. There was no regular Attorney General now, and if this provision be adhered to the Seaate would have before them for confirmation three important officers, the Attorney General and two present assistant Attorney General and two present assistant Attorney General and two present assistant Attorney General and two proteins and the Attorney General and the nominations made by the President would cominate the proper person, as he had no doubt he would if he would take the advice of the Senate from Pronsylvanta.

Mr. Huchdreks referred to the provision of the bill, which has the effect to fegitalist the present Assistant Attorney Generals. Thus when the President sent in his nominations, there would so difficulty in obtaining the consent of the Popartment, and then to provide for two new Assistant Attorney Generals. Thus when the President sent in his nominations, there would be addent and Congress.

ated so as to place them under the control of the Sonate.

Air. Edmunds denied that there was any in-tention to legislate one set of men out of office to legislate another set in. The Judiciary Committee had been actuated only by the in-terest of the country.

Mr. Trumbull also disavowed any political intention in the bill, and spoke of the incon-yenismes which all had experienced in refer-eace to the disposition of eases in the Court of Ulsims. esce to the disposition of eases in the Court of Ulatins.
Of Ulatins, and circks had never heard any complaints against the Court of Claims except from those who had lost cases.

Mr. Trumbull knew of no one outside who wanted these offices. It was no use disguising the fact that the Solicitors of the Court of Claims were not the proper persons to be the second of the Court of Claims the Court of Claims the Court of Claims the Interests of the Government were not as well protected as if the Attorney General was made responsible.

Tesponathie.

H. Fessenden approved in the main of the provisions of the bill, but he thought it was probably better that the reorganization of the Attorney General's Department would not take place at the present time, in view of the great press upon their time, and the delay which might arise in debating the nomination sent in by the President. Tr. Edmunds, much as he differed withthe resident of the United States, could not be-bye that he would do aught but send in such on as the Senate would think its duty to con-ra without heeltstion.
